Lavant. Walk to Church hill

Lavant is a municipality in the district of Lienz in the upper Drautal valley in East Tyrol, Austria. It is located in Lienz Dolomites on the border with Carinthia. The town is immersed in a suggestive landscape, ideal for relaxing. Lavant also attracts golf enthusiasts, thanks to the "Golf & Resort Dolomitengolf", a 27-hole golf course in an idyllic location, flanked by the Lienz Dolomites.

St. Ulrich Pilgrimage Church, Lavant

The St. Ulrich Pilgrimage Church at Lavant dates from the seventeenth century, and includes a tower, west gate, and choir preserved from the Gothic period. The church was renovated in 1770, and frescoes, rocaille paintings, and interiors were added at a later period. The church hill "Lavanter Kirchbichl", considered a sacred place, is also represented in the coat of arms of the village.

22.3.22—Daytrip to the Unesco Worldheritage-Village of Halstatt

Hallstatt is a village on the western shore of the homonymous lake in the mountainous Salzkammergut region of Austria. The sixteenth-century Alpine-style buildings divided by alleys house cafes and shops.

A funicular takes you to Salzwelten, an old salt mine with an underground salt lake, and to an observation deck overlooking the stretch of water. To the west, a path leads to the Echern Valley with its glacial wells and the Waldbachstrub waterfall.

23.3.22—Daytrip to Kals and the Nationalpark Hohe Tauern

(the largest NP in the Alps) with Austria's highest mountain: Großglockner

The Nationalpark Hohe Tauern, the largest national park in Central Europe, encompasses much of the central ridge of the Austrian Eastern Alps in the Hohe Tauern area. In the heart of the park, along with the Grossglockner (3,798 m a.s.l.) and the Grossvenediger (3,666 m a.s.l.), are some of the highest peaks in Austria. Surrounding these are mainly alpine huts and meadows, which represent important habitats for animals and plants.

24.3.22—Visit of the Destillerie Kuenz in Dölsach

The Kuenz family distillery is located in East Tyrol, 6 km from the Austrian town of Lienz. Here, in the heart of the Alps, the tradition of fruit distillation dates back centuries.

The Kuenz are no exception: for over 400 years they have owned the family hereditary farm, where they directly cultivate fruit and cereals for the production of spirits and use biomass stills fueled with wood from their own woods.

A few years ago the Kuenz brothers started producing whiskey and gin.

The aging takes place in new Austrian Styrian oak barrels, while the finishing is entrusted to ex porto, sherry, marsala and sweet Burgenland wine barrels. The cellar is always located within the property, obtained from an old stable with thick walls, which guarantee a constant microclimate and sheltered from the summer heat and harsh winters.

Local raw materials are also used for the gin. The alpine botanicals are in fact hand-picked and allow the creation of two very characteristic and balanced recipes, strongly linked to the surrounding mountain territory.
